

Mohamed Maghraby Biography

Senior Vice President of Product and Services, KnowledgeNet

With more than 30 years' experience in the IT industry, much of which has been with KnowledgeNet in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, Mohamed Maghraby excels in the areas of product management, services management, application consultancy, business requirement analysis, ERP implementation and software development. His active role in these fields over the course of his career has invested him with specialized skills which enable him to contribute greatly to the growth of the organization on many levels.

Maghraby's extensive product knowledge spans brokerage management and online trading systems, investment management systems, customer due diligence and KYC solutions, data management solutions and ERP software, all essential tools that contribute to his current role in managing product lines while developing new products based on regional market requirements.

His ability to work equally effectively with teams within the organization, as well as with a diverse customer base, has been significant in building positive relationships which in turn serve as a stepping stone to growth and development. A sound knowledge of management principles further cements the professional acumen he has brought to the table since graduating from Ain Shams University with a bachelor's degree in Commerce in 1983. Further postgraduate studies at Cairo University in Computer Science & Information Systems with the Institute of Statistical Studies and Research (ISSR) have enabled Maghraby to extend his industry knowledge and keep him abreast of developments in this vital field.
